Intelepresence New Website Now Live: www.intelepresence.com

Intelepresence is leading manufacturer of wireless products and systems for covert surveillance and counter-terrorism

CAMBRIDGE, VT – www.intelepresence.com, the website for Intelepresence, which designs and manufactures covert surveillance and counter-terrorism systems that operate in open architecture, wireless networks in the most remote and extreme conditions, features an easy to navigate series of scroll down menus that cover the company's technology, success stories, custom applications, products, news and company information.

Intelepresence's primary customers include city, county, state and federal law enforcement, airport authorities, marine and border patrols, federal agencies including US Marshals, US Customs, and the National Park Service, private security companies, and law enforcement training academies.

Companies involved in oil and gas production, refining and marketing, pipeline and utility construction, power generation, construction, mining, forestry, and utility companies and agencies have also harnessed Intelepresence technology. Owners of private yachts, and fishing and hunting enthusiasts are avid users of select Intelepresence systems.

Intelepresence products include the Sentinel, a lightweight, portable, stand-alone video surveillance and intelligence gathering system used in a wide range of law enforcement and commercial applications and the DarkStar, a covert, portable infrared imaging system operable in zero light conditions. The DarkStar is ideal for vehicle identification up to 1000 feet away, can penetrate tinted windows, and is used in law enforcement, military patrol and reconnaissance, marine and night navigation.
